Sheltering Arms

Making a difference in the lives of children, their families and communities

In 1888, a group of concerned Atlanta women began Sheltering Arms' first "Center"—initially a safe space for the children of textile workers while their parents toiled in the mills. The 1888 Society is named for that pivotal year, when Sheltering Arms was established and its mission to begin to transform Atlanta families and by extension, communities, began.

Through quality high-quality early education, child care, and comprehensive family support services, Sheltering Arms works to create thriving communities where all families hold the power to create opportunity for themselves and their children.

The 1888 Society serves to deepen and continue positive impact for Atlanta's children, their families and the broader community for years to come.

Your generosity makes essential and diverse programs and services available, such as:

- Need-based tuition scholarships
- Teacher training
- Comprehensive family support services
- Year-round literacy program with increased access to books
